Roswell's City Dads Seem to Be Hopelessly Deadlocked; People Are Surprised and May Take Legal Steps,

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL

Goswell, N. M., Aug. 4.—The question which Roswell is discussing is whether or not A. W. McWhorter is a councilman from the Fourth ward. He received a majority of the votes of the ground at the regular meeting last night, but there is now considerable argument of irregularity. That much discussed vacancy in the fourth ward caused in the resignation of J. H. Mullis, who was elected mayor, is the cause of all the trouble. A month ago the city council, after demonstrating that it was impossible to get together on any one man, voted to leave the mayor in the voters of the fourth ward and abide by the decision of the electorate. The principal argument was that giving him 111 votes while P. M. Ailes, the other candidate, received only ten votes. Mr. Ford was also nominated several times by Mr. Mullis.

Ford's Name Rejected.

At the regular session of the council last night the mayor nominated Mr. Ford. A secret ballot was taken and five councilmen voted against him and four for him. The city attorney insists that it takes six to confirm. Those who voted against his confirmation were J. A. Aiken, D. O. H. Haeneker, J. M. Rose, B. M. Turner and R. K. Fleming. Those voting to confirm were Dr. C. F. McDonald, C. W. Shepherd, C. G. Fulton and A. L. Whitehead. J. A. Aiken was the only councilman who voted for the resolution to submit the matter to the voters and voted against the choice of the council last night. He explained that when he voted for the original resolution he thought only democratic voters would vote in the primary and that none of the members of the mayor's was to take part in the primary.

The opposition to the mayor then nominated A. W. McWhorter and received the five opposition votes. However, it is conjectured that nominations for vacancies must come from the mayor and not from the town.

There was much surprise among the people because they felt that the deadlock on the council was broken over the primary named Mr. Ford by such an overwhelming vote. It is believed now that the city, no doubt, will be in the courts, as he nor says McWhorter was not regularly elected and that he will require a court order before he becomes a member.

A Factional Fight.

It is the control of the city government which is at stake and the two factions of the democratic party are ready on the two sides of the fight. The opposition to the mayor is made up of the so-called progressive wing of the party, which now has control of the county organization. This same faction made a hard fight to win in the city election, where the whole field was controlled by the mayor and his friends. Mr. Mullis was elected by a majority of twenty-five votes while J. A. Gilmore was elected city clerk by an overwhelming majority.

The council put aside the factional fight last night long enough to pass a few ordinances. Most important of these was the one reducing the surtaxing tax from twelve cents a front foot to ten cents. This will mean a gross reduction in the springing tax of about $1,200 a year. Two of the ordinances had to do with gambling and the red light district, both of which have been closed. Therefore the ordinances have not laid the property owners in any way.

Charles A. Mill, Civil War Veteran, Believes He Has Discovered One of Largest Bodies of Tungsten in World.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL

Clayton, N. M., Aug. 4.—Charles A. Mill, eight years old prospector and Civil War veteran, reached Gallup yesterday from the mountains of New Mexico, where he has spent the past fifty years prospecting. He came to the city to make arrangements to go to Alaska, where he will take to his claims in the north part of the country, where he has uncovered what he believes to be one of the largest bodies of tungsten in the world. Mr. Mill brought with him samples of pure tungsten from his prospect, and also a large quantity of samples of ore that will assay not less than $120 per ton.

Meet on Battlefield.

Mr. Mill is spending the time here until the parties to whom he intends to sell his mine arrive, with Sergeant Martinez, also a Civil War veteran and eighty years old. The first meeting of these two men was on the battlefield of Antonito, in '62. Mill was fighting for the south and Martinez for the north. The two men became friends at that time and have met and associated together since that time. Mr. Mill, though eighty years old, in appearance would be taken for less than fifty, and is as active as a boy. Just prior to coming to Clayton he climbed a shaft twenty feet deep through rock, shale and iron clay in just thirteen days. He had no one to help him and had to carry the dirt out of the hole himself.

Mr. Mill expects to sell his holdings and retire from the prospecting game.

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York, Aug. 4.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

"Exceptionally gratifying reports regarding trade industry and transportation are somewhat modified by less favorable news from the agricultural regions."

"Yet the general crop estimates, while accentuating the tendency toward wholesome conservatism, have not cast doubt as to the maintenance of the forward movement in business. In spite of the various drawbacks and uncertainties, confidence in sustained economic progress is unshaken, the large increase in

TO the husband, fathers, sons and daughters:

A good Gas Range is of utmost impor-tance in good foods or unpalatable foods—money saved or wasted in fuel, mother's hap-piness or unhappiness in her daily work are dependent to a very great extent upon the time she must spend in the hot kitchen. An all-gas-kitchen will change the whole situation—gives the wife or mother more time to rest, more pleasure and happiness.
